who we are

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria is a membership-based non profit organization that is driven by the passion and professionalism of 241 staff, over 400 volunteers, 1411 members, a board of directors and other supporters.

This year we assisted 1700 people affected by mental illnesses such as schizophrenia, depression and bipolar disorder who needed specialised assistance to overcome the disabilities these illnesses cause. We also work with their family, friends, carers and employers.

We provide people with a network of evidence-based services offering individual pathways through psychiatric rehabilitation. We also prioritize community education and advocacy. Everything we do is aimed at providing people with homes, jobs and relationships.

MI Fellowship creates events that reduce stigma by raising awareness and giving the public contact with people with mental illness including the annual Bruce Woodcock memorial lecture and the Open Mind Fiesta which attracts 30,000 people.

What started in 1978 as a small band of volunteers has developed into one of Australia's largest and leading psychiatric disability support organization with a budget exceeding $10 million and company limited by guarantee status. After almost three decades we know that the crucial phase of the journey is in front of us. → www.mifellowship.org

2006.07 vision & values

OUR VISION

Our vision is of a society in which mental illness will be understood and accepted.

People with mental illness will be afforded the same regard as those with physical illness and resources will be available to offer early interventions and state of the art treatment and support.

These interventions will be so effective that long-term negative consequences of mental illness will have disappeared for the person and their family.

People with mental illness will no longer experience stigma and society will treat them with the same respect and dignity as any other person and welcome and include them fully as community members.

OUR VALUES

We value the contributions of people with mental illness, their families and friends in our organization and the community. The following values underpin all our activity:

HONESTY

Honesty is integral to all our dealings with members, volunteers, clients, staff and the community. In relationships with people seeking support and advice we will be open, truthful, genuine and respectful. Staff will reflect on their own practice and develop new insights from that process. There will be appropriate use of our resources to support the mission of Mental Illness Fellowship and this will be accurately documented and recorded. There will also be a process to deal with potential conflicts of interest.

ACCEPTANCE

Acceptance means that we include and accept people with mental illness and we value difference. Our relationships are interactive and based on non-judgmental attitudes. We welcome people into our organization who have limited support options and who may have experienced difficulties within the mental health system. We trust that people can be well and must not be defined by their symptoms and we work to support that belief. We encourage healthy coping strategies that enhance the capacities of people with mental illness.

EQUITY

Equity means that we work to ensure mental health services are accessible and that people receive their entitlements. It also means that people with mental illness, and their families and friends from diverse cultural backgrounds and creeds have the same right to respect and dignified treatment as any other person. We identify service gaps, injustice and poor practice, which affect interventions, and we work with people to find solutions and strategies to address these difficulties.

FLEXIBILITY

Flexibility means that we are able and willing to adjust to individuality. We welcome diversity and use it for the benefit of the individual, the community and our organization. It means we try to find creative solutions to overcome problems and ensure that these solutions are open to scrutiny and fit within our total value system. We acknowledge the challenges flexibility brings and use these challenges to enrich all our activities.

COMMITMENT

Commitment means we work towards the achievement of our vision and purpose. We expect our members, volunteers and staff to commit to these values and implement and promulgate them in all areas of our organization. All our activities ensure effective and efficient use of resources and we strive for excellence in all we do.

PARTICIPATION

Participation means that we will fully and happily engage in positive developments for people with mental illness, their families and their friends. We are a grass roots organization and encourage involvement in voluntary activity. We encourage staff to be members and to actively participate in achieving our goals. We encourage active membership, which is designed to strengthen the mental health voice and influence mental health development and policy. It also means co-operation within the membership, volunteers, staff and with a range of community agencies.

strategic plan - services go from strength to strength

There has been a 40% increase in the number of people with a mental illness accessing our programs and services over the past five years.

The strategic plan 2004-08 was developed during 2003 after consulting members, people with mental illness and their families, the Department of Human Services and other key people in the community. There was also a staff audit of how well the organization was positioned to manage now and into the future.

Both reviews identified that the organization needed to strengthen its capacity to manage for the future through strategic growth and working in partnership with people with mental illness, mental health services, legal firms and government to address service integration. Organizational responsiveness to consumer and carer need was rated highly by service users and their families and it was recommended that the high standard be maintained and that the capacity for innovation and formalizing best practice should be further developed.

The standardized audit tool provides a snapshot of organizational performance across 13 categories. These are benchmarked against organizations operating at the median, top quartile and top 10% of Australian companies. The most effective rating is to operate in the top 10% of international companies.

In 2003, benchmarking rated five of the categories in the median range of Australian organizational performance, six in the top quartile and two in the top 10% of Australian companies. These 13 ratings SEE FIGURE 1 PAGE 5 → measure organizational capacity to manage for the future. The gaps identified through this review became the new key performance areas: capacity building, building integrated service and system responses and evidence-based best practice and innovation in the strategic plan.

The three key performance areas were turned into actions through regional and service plans and built into the organization through the introduction of the staff performance and development system. Outcome monitoring and evaluation processes were reviewed and re-established, resulting in an organizational restructure and the establishment of new committee and project management arrangements.

The outcomes of these strategies were re-measured in 2006, and are displayed on the opposite page. SEE FIGURE 1 PAGE 5 → This snapshot demonstrates marked organizational improvement across all 13 categories, and the organization consistently performing within the top 10% of Australian companies. This outcome was supported by the result of the quality improvement and community services accreditation (QICSA) process in 2006, in which we were awarded leading practice ratings in leadership and management, collaboration and strategic positioning and community and professional capacity building.

Figures 2 and 3 show the breadth and growth of our organization.

2006.07 president's report

The call to action in Victoria led to a national political advocacy program called Australians Talk Mental Illness.

The board of directors has continued to build a strong foundation for sustainability for the next phase of Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria. We have focused on external political advocacy, internal and external relationships, innovation and best practice strategies to build organizational capacity. Our strong performance in each of these strategies has reinforced the foundation for the future.

POLITICAL

'We call upon all political parties and all candidates seeking office at the next Victorian state election to say how they will achieve better outcomes for people with a mental illness, their families and friends.' This was how we opened our call to action in the 2006 Victorian state election. In this advocacy campaign 226 members responded, often conveying the most harrowing stories about their personal experiences of the mental health service in this state. Well over 600 different issues were identified from these responses. We sought responses from political parties to the five main categories that were identified. We have continued to advocate on these issues throughout the year.

Through our membership of the Mental Illness Fellowship of Australia (MIFA) we have continued to advocate for better mental health outcomes with the Federal Government through the Departments of Health and Ageing, Employment and Workplace Relations and Families, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs. We have also lobbied directly and through the Mental Health Council of Australia. We have been able to have mental health issues raised directly with Federal Parliamentary Friends of Schizophrenia. The call to action in Victoria led to a national political advocacy program called Australians Talk Mental Illness. As part of MIFA we surveyed members and friends about their most important mental health issues. We have had more than 2100 responses nationally, almost 400 from Victoria (for more details on the survey go to www.mifa.org.au). This campaign will be launched in the next reporting period.

RELATIONSHIPS

This year we have improved organizational capacity to make a difference in the lives of people with mental illness by building our relationships with members, supporters, donors, volunteers and organizations that fund us.

We have concentrated on engaging our membership and the call to action campaign was one way of representing the concerns and views of our members. Feedback from members has also influenced the content of our quarterly magazine MI Voice. The annual Bruce Woodcock memorial lecture was attended by 397 people and the feedback was extremely positive. The pro bono support of ABC Radio National's Fran Kelly again this year contributed to its success. This lecture continues to be supported by Frank Woodcock and his family.

Volunteers are part of who we are and they work across the organization from the board as a director, to supporting people and their families through service delivery and raising funds through the op shops.

An important element in building our capacity and sustainability for the future relies on our relationships with supporters and donors. This allows us to develop advocacy campaigns and to innovate.

Through its annual awards the board recognizes people for their contributions to improving the lives of people affected by mental illness. Last year 409 people volunteered their time which enables us to achieve goals that are unfunded by government. The relationship with Preston Rotary is an example of how an organization has been able to support us. It has provided volunteers, donations and has helped us build community mental health literacy.

An important element in building our capacity and sustainability for the future relies on our relationships with supporters and donors. This allows us to develop advocacy campaigns and to innovate. This support comes from the 9371 people who sold raffle tickets this year, provided pro bono services and advice and directly raised money on our behalf. Middleton's has taken a lead role in providing pro bono legal services and their assistance has enabled us to receive pro bono Queens Council support. The AMP Foundation alongside the Fairfield Traders Association has been instrumental in enabling the Open Mind Fiesta to spearhead community education.

SEW-Eurodrive, an international company that makes engine parts, has committed to improving the lives of people with mental illness and over the course of our nine-year relationship has raised over $1m. Fox FM's The Matt and Jo Show, featuring Matt Tilley and Jo Stanley, raised $42,000 in September 2006 through listener pledges and hundreds of other people and organizations helped us make a difference in people's lives. Our heartfelt thanks goes to all who have helped us and I encourage you to recognize these contributions by reviewing the section on relationships later in this report.

INNOVATION

Innovation has been a key strategy in building organizational capacity. This year Dr Patrick Corrigan, the director of Psychiatric Rehabilitation at the University of Chicago, led the development of the community action plan which will influence future organizational strategy. Elements of the plan are based on Dr Corrigan's research in dealing with stigma associated with mental illness.

In collaboration with La Trobe University a research program has been developed. This is discussed in the 'Relationships' section of the report. SEE PAGE 25 → The development of the Well Ways family education program has had enormous impact for the families of people with mental illness across Australia. Through our relationships with organizations that fund us and Area Mental Health Service partners we have been able to develop new approaches to family education and support, employment and residential service delivery.

The board is awaiting a consultants report on the outcome of their self evaluation of performance. The outcome will be communicated to members in due course.

In concluding I would like to thank my fellow directors and our partners both big and small for helping us achieve our goals. I would also like to thank our committed and loyal staff and our management team for their important and valuable contributions in striving to make a difference in the lives of people with a mental illness their family and friends.

2006.07 chief executive's report

The belief that people with mental illness and their families have the right and potential to live untouched by stigma and discrimination guides the strategic plan.

Next year we are 30 years old. As our current strategic plan ends in 2008 we have taken stock and are planning to start the next 30 years on firm ground. Although we cannot plan this far out we can review our current effectiveness and focus to build for the future using unmet need as a guide for that development.

The belief that people with mental illness and their families have the right and potential to live untouched by stigma and discrimination guides the strategic plan. In the current environment many people are denied effective support. This belief was turned into tangible outcomes and measured through the key result areas of capacity building, integrated service response and systems and evidence-based practice and innovation. The effectiveness of these strategies is introduced here and further reported in other sections of this publication – home, work, relationships, our people and financials. The issues of home, work and relationships are the three highest priorities of our members and supporters of people with a mental illness.

CAPACITY BUILDING

- The values-based performance planning and management system is in its second year; its purpose is to build staff support and competence to provide best practice services. The first year showed some teething problems however application of continuous quality improvement principles has ensured that these were addressed and that there is a system in place for future refinement. SEE MORE PAGE 28 →
- Financial viability: The sector viability campaign resulted in $537,345 this year. A government infrastructure grant will make possible the full introduction of a wide area network which will enable better service delivery and communications. The planned foundation and capital appeal have been put on hold; reprioritization and alternative short-term funding strategies have been put in place. This will be reviewed in the next reporting period. In line with the strategic plan, an investment strategy is being developed to ensure that funds are managed with proper regard to risk and return. The investments resulted in $408,428 this year, fundraising in $695,798 and donations income in $527,769. These improved results are influenced by increased income from SEW-Eurodrive charity events and op-shop activities. SEE MORE PAGE 25, 30-33 →

- Focus on quality: The specialist family education, counselling and helpline review has resulted in the redevelopment of quality processes including the utilisation of standard data collection tools to inform advocacy and service development.
- Creation of a consumer project worker position and recruitment to this position has increased our level of consumer participation and networking throughout the organization with more than 30 consumer focus groups being conducted this year. In addition, Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria has further built our carer capacity through the employment of facilitators for our peer education programs. SEE MORE PAGE 25 →

10 YEAR GROWTH CHART

We worked with 1495 people with mental illnesses across 35 metropolitan and rural settings through 22 outlets with the aim of supporting them to develop their skills to live personally and socially valued lives in their communities of choice.

INTEGRATED SERVICE RESPONSE AND SYSTEMS

- We worked with 1495 people with mental illnesses across 35 metropolitan and rural settings through 22 outlets with the aim of supporting them to develop their skills to live personally and socially valued lives in their communities of choice.
- The Minister for Mental Health, Lisa Neville visiting the Ambergmere building site in Shepparton announced the Government's redevelopment plan, which will fund the location of the prevention and recovery centre (PARC [sub acute]) and the community care unit (longer term rehabilitation) onto this site from the current rented premises. In partnership with Goulburn Valley Health the planning process for this move in December 2007 is well under way. SEE MORE PAGE 16 →
- Opening doors, a longer term rehabilitation and supported accommodation project has been developed in partnership with Bayside Health and Inner South Community. A pivotal element of the project was the $1.25m renovation of Rossdale, and while work has yet to be completed on the outside of the building, the service has commenced and accepted the first seven participants. SEE MORE PAGE 16 →

- A new prevention and recovery centre (PARC) has been developed in collaboration with Bayside Health. A building has been acquired for this purpose but has required modifications. The local community has opposed this community program and negotiations with the neighbors have been prolonged and fraught. A solution has been found and the renovations and program planning are under way. The service opened in August 2007. SEE MORE PAGE 16 →
- Fundraising from the Matt and Jo Show on Fox FM enabled a one-off educational program to be conducted in Frankston. SEE MORE PAGE 22 →
- The information technology (IT) strategy, with the wide area network solution has been developed. This will deliver a stable IT platform from which the organization can build for the future.

EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE AND INNOVATION

- Peer, family and consumer educational programs have been built through development and pilot stages. SEE MORE PAGE 25 →
- Dr Patrick Corrigan, director of Psychiatric Rehabilitation at the University of Chicago worked with us during Schizophrenia Awareness Week this year to develop an evidence-based approach to tackling stigma. Under his guidance a framework for a community action plan has been developed and will underpin this organization's approach to stigma reduction over the next three years. SEE MORE PAGE 25 →
- Our approaches to employment were reviewed and redeveloped during this reporting period. An evidence-based approach has been adopted, with these services being provided in collaboration with clinical services. This year the services provided through St Vincent's mental health have resulted in 16 people getting a job, new services starting up with ORYGEN Youth Health and Goulburn Valley Mental Health Worktrainers and three of these new services being planned for next year.

We have achieved much this year through the dedication of staff, members, volunteers and supporters. Thank you.

Elizabeth Crowther

“I am part of the community. I have choices, I make my own decisions. I am finally living as a normal adult. I am someone with a valuable life, living in the real world.” Dean

our results home

“The lack of appropriate housing and support options often creates a cycle of homelessness and inappropriate care for people with a mental illness.”

Catherine, MI Fellowship member, as reported in our 2006 state election call to action.

People need a range of skills, personal and social supports to maintain their capacity to live in the community. A house is not enough. The group of people who develop psychiatric disabilities need structured support to develop their independence, self-managing and organizational skills to maintain their home. Without these specialized interventions homelessness and marginal housing are a reality, as is loss of custody of children. At times of acute episodes there is significant risk of losing housing tenure or fracturing lifelong relationships integral in sustaining living arrangements.

The level of a person’s disabilities will be determined by a range of factors and therefore their special needs require a range of individualized support to attain their goals. This support is delivered through six service types in this organization.

This year we partnered with 1186 participants through these six service types; home-based outreach support, residential rehabilitation, prevention and recovery care (PARC), day programs, community care units and respite through 27 outlets in metropolitan, regional and rural settings. Some participants will have accessed programs more than once. These services are funded through the Department of Human Services (DHS).

Figure 4 SEE BELOW → shows the number of people who have participated in programs over the past year, showing that 11% of people had brief interventions. The average length of service for this group is between three and four months with respite and PARC services accounting for half of the services delivered as shortterm interventions. In the main, services are focused on working with people who have developed psychiatric disabilities as a consequence of their mental illness and therefore require a concentrated period of time to develop skill and confidence to maintain independence. In 2006-07, 62% had relationships with services for periods greater than one year with the average association being 4.4 years.

The data for 2003-2004 highlights a different trend. In implementing best practice it was identified that data collection methods and staff practices in routinely reviewing and managing participant discharge required revision. New systems and support were introduced in 2004-05, where recording and exit policies were put in place.

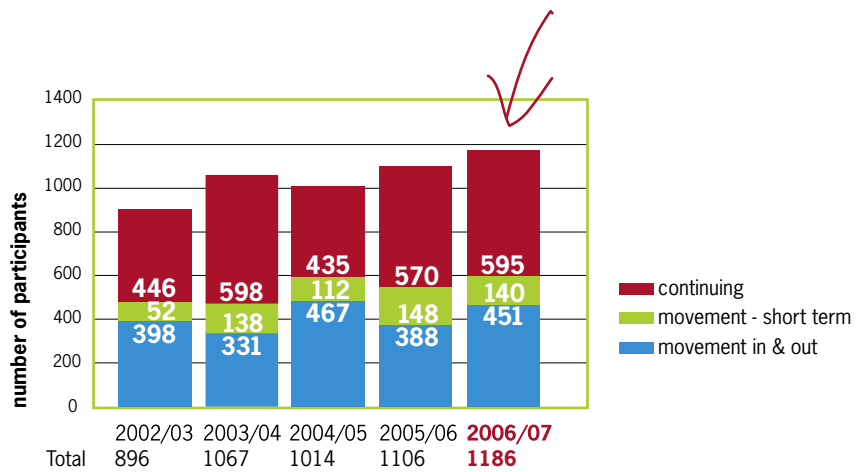

Figure 4 – Participant movement through six service types

Figure 4 – Participant movement through six service types shows the number of people using these service types over the past five years. Participant activity is displayed according to their movement status through these programs ie. people who have either started or finished during the year, those who have started and finished within the same year and those who have continued from one year through to the next.

The age range of participants in these programs is demonstrated in figure 5. SEE OPPOSITE → Both the mean and median age was 41 years.

“Andrew relearnt living skills, regained control of his finances, reconnected with his family, has been successfully discharged from clinical case management to his local GP. He has gained full-time casual employment and has recently bought a car with his earnings.”

We delivered 116,000 hours of home-based outreach, respite and day services across the state, which exceeds the set target hours.

SERVICE TYPES:

- Home-based support staff work in a one on one relationship with participants to help them gain personal management skills to maintain a home and live in the community. One recipient of this service said:

“It was about raising my confidence, hope and self esteem to reconnect and take the next steps to make relationships with my community of choice, from my home base, where I felt safe.” Melissa

399 people were supported through this service in the peninsula in Melbourne, regional Barwon and the north west corridor of rural Hume.

- Day services structure opportunities for people to form relationships and through participation in activities, gain skill in communicating with others, take on leadership roles, and further develop their organizational skills at personal and intellectual levels. These centre-based services assist individuals develop strategies and skills to develop social networks and support them to link into vocational programs.

“It’s nice to be around people who understand what I’m going through who don’t judge me. It gives me a routine and something to look forward to, something to get out of bed for.” Rob

562 people participated in these programs across Victoria in Wonthaggi, Warragul, Werribee, Footscray, Frankston, Richmond, Seymour and Shepparton.

- Respite is designed to provide a space for the person with mental illness and their family to have a supported break from their daily lives, which gives them an opportunity to refresh, look at their future in a different way and develop friendship networks. These interventions are provided through planned residential, visiting and packaged services, and are tailored to individual and family need. The mother of a respite participant said of the service:

“It took the pressure off me and my family to do everything. It was such a relief to know that my son was being looked after when we were pretty desperate for a rest.” Patricia

- Residential services: We delivered 10,268 days of residential rehabilitation this year, with an 88% occupancy rate. These services have been developed to work with people who need specific intensive residential support to develop their skill to live independently. The Barwon youth program in Geelong, prevention and recovery care and the community care unit in Shepparton and opening doors in St Kilda, Armadale and Glen Iris all provide this support.

- The Barwon youth program caters for people between the ages of 16 and 24; it has both home based and residential components. The residential service helps this young group to manage drug and alcohol misuse and to build social and living skills through shared learning with others while accepting responsibility for themselves within a supportive environment. The program also fosters vocational and educational connectedness in the community. A participant has explained her use of this service:

“When I moved in there my whole life changed for the better. I have support but I have gained some independence.”

Sarah

11 young people participated in this program last year.

This project is a new and innovative service that links residential and in-home interventions within a multi organizational staff team to meet the needs of this very disadvantaged group.

- Opening doors in collaboration with DHS, Bayside Health and Inner South Community Health provides medium to long-term rehabilitation for adults who have enduring psychiatric disabilities across four program settings. This project is a new and innovative service that links residential and in-home interventions within a multi organizational staff team to meet the needs of this very disadvantaged group. The intensity of interventions range from 24-hour focused clinical and rehabilitation interventions over a period of months to long-term supported accommodation, which is scaled up or down according to individual need. The full implementation of this project has been dependent on the completion of renovations of Rossdale, in Alma Road, St. Kilda, which cost $1.25m. Donations from the Fisher family and the Nemec family have made this possible. At the end of this year there are 46 people being supported in this program; the completion of the renovations provides an additional eight places. Four have moved into this residential component of the project and four people have been assessed and will join the program in the new year. The effectiveness of this project is explained by one of the residents:

“I am part of the community. I have choices, I make my own decisions. I am finally living as a normal adult. I am someone with a valuable life, living in the real world.” Dean

- Shepparton residential services are delivered in partnership with Goulburn Valley Health and are currently located in rented premises. The Government has granted $6.5m for the redevelopment of a hospital site called Ambermere in Shepparton. As part of this redevelopment a purpose built facility will accommodate both programs. A plan for the relocation of these programs and the new care models has been developed. This relocation is planned for December 2007.

- Community care unit accommodates eight people who experience significant and enduring psychiatric disabilities and who are unable to sustain independent living in the community. It enables people to learn or relearn living skills in a supportive and safe ‘live in’ environment. Participants build social and living skills through shared learning with others, while accepting responsibility for themselves within a supportive environment. The program also fosters vocational and educational connectedness in the community. A worker explains what the CCU did for one of the participants:

“Andrew relearnt living skills, regained control of his finances, reconnected with his family, has been successfully discharged from clinical case management to his local GP. He has gained full-time casual employment and has recently bought a car with his earnings.”

19 people attended this program last year.

Figure 6 – Step-up and step-down percentages

– Prevention and recovery care (PARC) delivers clinical and psychosocial rehabilitation services together to prevent relapse and support recovery for people who experience acute symptoms. This program has been the subject of an evaluation project this year. Phase one of this project analysed three years of data with a particular focus on participant and admission characteristics. Analysis of 2003-2007 data shows an increase in the number of stays over the four year period, a consistent average age (38 years) and over two thirds being diagnosed with schizophrenia or a mood disorder. The relative proportions of the step-up (participants entering the service directly from the community) and step-down (participants entering the service following acute hospitalization) participants have equalized over four years. SEE FIGURE 6 ABOVE → This suggests that PARC is now used as both an early intervention and early discharge strategy.

109 people have participated in this service in the last year.

• As part of this research the outcomes of interventions were closely evaluated. The paper based tool, Basis-32, is used across the organization as an outcome measure. 250 outcome results were selected to represent the effectiveness of the program over the last three years. This tool asks participants to reflect on how they are feeling about 32 standardised items measuring symptoms and disability at the beginning and at the end of their stay. Figure 7 below indicates how participants rated their levels of symptoms and coping strategies. There was a significant reduction in perceived levels of these difficulties at time of discharge compared to that experienced at admission. Difficulty in all five sub-areas improved over the course of people's stay: relation to self/others, depression/anxiety, daily living/role functioning, impulsive/addictive behavior and psychosis. Females expressed more difficulty than males on three of the five subscales including their relation to self and other, daily living and depression/anxiety.

Figure 7 shows a reduction in difficulty experienced by participants in the PARC program from the beginning to the end of their stay. The score range was 0 – 4.

These programs focus on partnering with people to improve their capacity to live in a home of their choice. There is a worrying trend that can be seen in our five year data in figure 8 of people moving out of their own house back into the family home. A number of explanations are put forward for this trend; the overwhelming reasons being offered are housing costs and availability of support. We have committed to look at this data more closely in the coming year.

Finally the single entry process where we aim to ensure that a person can access the organization through one phone call has improved throughout the year. The core elements of this policy have now been put in place in each of the regional services. Further improvement to local practices will be completed in the next financial year for example, the development of training materials to support intake processes, and more effective I.T. support.

Figure 8 shows the percentages for people with a mental illness accessing our services and living in public housing either alone, with family or with others. The percentage living alone/independently in public housing has greatly reduced over the past five years.

FACTS AT A GLANCE

- We partnered with 1186 participants through six service types
- Participants had an association with our services for an average of 4.4 years
- The average age of participants in this area was 41 years
- 399 people were supported through home-based support
- 562 people participated in the day services program
- 438 people participated in the respite program
- We delivered 116,000 hours of home-based outreach, respite and day services across Victoria
- We delivered 10,268 days of residential rehabilitation this year
- 109 people participated in our prevention and recovery care service this year
- The percentage of people accessing our services who live alone or independently in public housing had reduced by over 10% in the past five years

our results work

More than 75% of people with a severe psychiatric disability are not employed and yet most want to work. In addition, many people with a mental illness have experienced disrupted educational achievement, compromising their lifetime employment prospects. Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria remains committed to improving the employment and educational outcomes for people with a mental illness.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICES

“Having the employment service located where I get treatment means I get the complete package in the same building. I’m enjoying my recovery. There’s real commitment and understanding of my illness that I haven’t found anywhere else.” Perry

Employment services have continued to expand and evolve in line with evidence-based practice. This has seen closer partnerships with clinical services and the relocation of our disability employment network services. As a result of additional funding from the Department of Human Services and strategic investment from Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria and our partners in 2007, employment services were restructured into research and organizational development and an employment manager was appointed.

Principles of evidence-based employment

Employment services are integrated with clinical services
Goal is open employment
Eligibility is based on consumer choice
Job search is individualized
Rapid job placement
Benefits counselling
Ongoing support

- St Vincent’s Mental Health, Hawthorn: Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria integrated an employment specialist with St Vincent’s Mental Health, Hawthorn Community Mental Health Centre in April 2006. Clinical case managers and the employment specialist have worked closely with 22 job seekers, resulting in over 55% employment rate. The clinical team views the program positively; they are able to assist job seeker engagement and support the job seeker through the employment process. Close collaboration with the clinical team also means clinical interventions are timed to enhance rather than interrupt work performance. The success of the program has meant that Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria has become the preferred employment service by clients attending the clinical service and there is now a waiting list. In the coming year, additional resources will be allocated to this program.
- MI Work, Shepparton: This program is a partnership between Goulburn Valley Mental Health, Worktrainers Inc., a local employment service, and Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria. Each partner invested money to fund an employment specialist based at Goulburn Valley Mental Health services. This program started in January 2007. It has worked with 33 clients and secured employment for 13 of these job seekers.
- ORYGEN Youth Health, Parkville: In March, 2007, a half-time employment specialist, funded through the Department of Human Services, started at ORYGEN Youth Health. In this program we work alongside an existing employment specialist funded through ORYGEN Research Centre. This arrangement has resulted in shared learning and fast uptake of our service in this location. Clients in this service have an average age younger than those in our other employment service locations and education is viewed as equally valuable as employment. Twelve clients have been engaged in the service; three have been placed in jobs and two in education.

More than 75% of people with a severe psychiatric disability are not employed and yet most want to work.

Employment services have continued to expand and evolve in line with evidence-based practice.

- Bromham Place, Richmond: The adoption of evidence-based practice and the resultant relocation of some employment services to clinical sites have had an impact on existing disability employment network services at Bromham Place. Evidence suggests that employment services are most effective when they are not located with day programs. This enables both staff and participants to remain focused on job seeking rather than being side tracked by other activities. This evidence, however, was weighed up with ensuring our day program participants had ready and easy access to employment services should they wish to become job seekers. The employment office has been relocated to Fairfield Place and our employment specialists provide an outreach service to Bromham Place including both group-based employment interventions and individual appointments.

SOCIAL FIRM

Social firms are businesses that employ a mix of people with a disability and people without a recognized disability. They are viable, community-based businesses that grow in relation to commercial success. Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria supported the development of The Flat Bottle Company as a social firm by providing recruitment services and ongoing support and training to employees. In the past year, The Flat Bottle Company has diversified and focused its efforts on the development of new products and services – including a range of jewellery, platters and cleaning services. Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria employment services have been instrumental in developing the cleaning services – miCleaning - taking an active role in sales and contract management.

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria has recruited and provided support and training to 10 employees with a mental illness in the social firm.

VOLUNTEERING

Volunteering can provide a valuable opportunity to acquire work skills. Approximately 60% of regular volunteers at Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria do so as part of their employment plan. In August 2006, a mentoring program commenced at Fairfield where a volunteer is linked to a staff member to help them identify their learning needs and find positive and effective ways to support that learning.

One of the volunteers in the mentoring program said “This program has provided me with the opportunity to learn new skills in administration. I enjoy going to work knowing that MI Fellowship is a place where everyone is co-operative and approachable.” Ken Valuable work skills acquired include retail, data entry, management and money handling.

EDUCATION

“For the first time in my life I have finished something I have begun.” David

“Knowing I have ongoing support gives me confidence.” Marnie

Educational achievement is a pathway to employment. Accessible programs that accommodate mental illness without compromising achievement are therefore critical in helping people with a mental illness to get a job. The Certificate in General Education for Adults targets people with a mental illness who have been unable to access mainstream educational programs, either due to stigma or inflexibility in teaching approaches. The course is underpinned by a collaborative relationship between the key support providers of individual students and Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria.

This program was offered in Fairfield to 15 students in 2006 and 17 students in 2007. This program was funded through Northern Metropolitan Regional Adult Council of Further Education under the Department of Education, Science and Training, with a substantial internal contribution by Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria.

The education program was expanded to Frankston in 2007. It was funded through money raised by the Matt and Jo Show on Fox FM. Thirteen students enrolled in the program in 2007 and are mid-way to completing their Certificate in General Education for Adults.

Teaching approaches
Curriculum spread over two semesters
Supportive learning environment, including peer support
Flexible deadlines
Lesson timed to start late morning
Flexible modes of teaching
Individual tutoring available, via volunteer tutors
Individual support and intervention available via counselling program including strategies for managing symptoms and social demands in the classroom.
Connection to employment program

Student Profile, Fairfield, 2007
Age range 21-65
Over 50% between the ages of 31-42
Travel from outer and inner metropolitan
Most have achieved year 10 or lower
94% unemployed
75% seeking employment
Over half students report a diagnosis of schizophrenia

FACTS AT A GLANCE

- Employment services were delivered to 189 job seekers
- 67 new job seekers entered the service, 28 remain in the service
- Accredited educational courses were delivered to 45 students, over two sites – Frankston and Fairfield

- The average age of job seekers is 36
- 88 participants were engaged with the disability employment network on 30 June, 46 were being supported in employment
- Job seekers stayed in work for an average of 22 weeks
- 15 students graduated with a Certificate in General Education for Adults in 2006

relationships

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria believes that quality relationships are critical to improving the lives of people affected by mental illness.

our results relationships

6708 calls were answered through helpline, with an average call length of 23 minutes.

For us, relationships means many things. It's what people affected by mental illness seek in a personal context. It's what connects the class of students in our Certificate in General Education for Adults course. It's what we build between our staff and participants. It's what we continue to develop with organizations such as SEW-Eurodrive to raise funds. It's what unites a Well Ways facilitator and a group of participants. It's what brings experts such as Dr Patrick Corrigan to Australia to educate. It's what brings a helpline volunteer and a person seeking information together.

Quality relationships produce excellent results in service delivery. The breadth of our relationships extends from individuals to large organizations in areas ranging from volunteering to fundraising.

HELPLINE

Helpline provides advice, referral and support to people with a mental illness, their family and friends. A skilled group of volunteers, all of whom have been affected by mental illness, provide this service. This year, 6708 calls were answered through helpline, with an average call length of 23 minutes. Although most helpline services are delivered through telephone contact, more than 700 contacts were made via email.

The helpline is accessed predominately by callers from metropolitan Melbourne, particularly the north and east areas. Fifteen percent of callers come from country Victoria and a much smaller percentage from interstate locations (see figure 9 below). Family members and carers of people with a mental illness were the largest group of people accessing the helpline services (45%), followed by people with a mental illness (38%), with students and professionals making up the smallest group (17%).

COUNSELLING

Like helpline, counselling provides a direct service to people with a mental illness, their family and friends. Sixty people accessed counselling services over the year and 320 counselling appointments were provided. Approximately half the people accessing counselling services were offered one counselling session and then assisted to engage with the Well Ways family education program.

PEER FAMILY EDUCATION

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria uses peer family education as a key approach in helping families of people with a mental illness. Peer facilitators bring the lived experience of caring for somebody with a mental illness to the program and are trained to educate in a consistent and best-practice manner. Over 20 specialist family education peer workers were employed to deliver these services in regional locations.

Well Ways programs are run throughout our metropolitan and regional services. This year an additional four partnerships were set up with public mental health services – north west, mid west, outer east and inner west area mental health services. These partnerships enable easy access to programs by family members and positively influence family services at the clinical treatment level.

Double Trouble is a family peer education program specifically designed for carers of people with a diagnosis of both mental illness and substance use. Nineteen carers accessed the program this year.

More than 250 family members engaged in the peer family education programs this year. The main source of referrals was Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria services, such as helpline, counselling and the volunteer program. Other key referral sources were clinical services and carer support services, as outlined in figure 10 below.

“It gave me the opportunity to reflect on my illness and realize I can improve my lifestyle in order to lessen the impact of my illness.” Hayley

In 2006-2007, Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria was contracted by MIFA to develop a short peer education program for families through Johnson & Johnson via Give2Asia. This program recognized that some family members are unable to commit to attending the longer Well Ways program perhaps because of travel distances in rural locations or other time demands. This program provides brief education and skill development in two half-day sessions. It was piloted for the first time in December 2006 in the Barwon region. Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria has been engaged by MIFA to continue to develop and run the program in two locations in late 2007 – one interstate rural and one metropolitan location.

PEER CONSUMER EDUCATION

In 2006-2007 Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria continued development of a consumer peer education program – MI Recovery Journey. This program was successfully piloted in 2007. 11 students participated in the pilot. Evaluation results are currently informing program developments with two additional pilots being planned in 2007.

One of the participants made this remark in their evaluation:

“It gave me the opportunity to reflect on my illness and realize I can improve my lifestyle in order to lessen the impact of my illness. The biggest gain I've had from the program is the knowledge and the tools I can use, and the shift in my awareness that I need to take better care of myself.” Hayley

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

People with a mental illness want a house.

People with a mental illness want a job.

People with a mental illness want a relationship.

People with a mental illness want no stigma.

On 15 October 2006 more than 30,000 people attended the Open Mind Fiesta and got this message on T-shirts, badges and postcards throughout the Station Street cafes, shops and street stalls. The Open Mind Fiesta is not only a community education event, it is an opportunity for all our partners to come together and work for social change. In 2006 more than 200 people volunteered for this event, including participants from programs and their families, entertainers, volunteers from Preston Rotary, ANZ, our staff and board, community members and, of course the Fairfield traders and their staff. Our sponsors, AMP Foundation, Commonwealth Bank, Bank of Queensland, Melbourne City Toyota and City of Darebin were generous in their financial support for this event. Our relationship with Fairfield Traders Association strengthens with each fiesta.

OPPORTUNITY SHOPS

The Northcote and Kew opportunity shops continue to improve their financial viability, with record profits again this year, demonstrated below in figure 11. More than 80 volunteers staff the shops and make a very tangible contribution to the growth of Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria.

SCHIZOPHRENIA AWARENESS WEEK

As part of Schizophrenia Awareness Week in May 2007, Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria invited Dr Patrick Corrigan from Chicago USA, to deliver the ninth annual Bruce Woodcock memorial lecture and facilitate forums, workshops and meetings. Dr Corrigan's expertise is in the area of stigma and mental illness. In his 10 days with us Dr Corrigan ran workshops with more than 850 participants, including people with a mental illness, family members, senior staff of the mental health branch of Department of Human Services, senior police, senior area mental health service staff, Fairfield traders and other community partners and the general public through three public lectures. Dr Corrigan's visit was the starting point in the development of a three-year community action plan to address stigma in our community.

The plan will target particular groups and will be fully evaluated. Our outcomes will contribute to the body of research showing what is effective in challenging stigmatizing attitudes and discrimination in the community. We will partner with La Trobe and Deakin universities on this project.

CORPORATE SUPPORTERS

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria is supported by corporate organizations in a variety of ways from financial to in-kind support. These contributions enable us to continue to grow and diversify. This year, SEW-Eurodrive continued their remarkable support of our work. Their annual golf day and auction night raised $209,132 which we have used to improve our employment, advocacy and education programs.

We thank every one of our partners for helping to improve the lives of people affected by mental illness and acknowledge them here.

Employees and volunteers put Mental Illness Fellowship values into action every time they enter the workplace.

our results people

241 employees at 30 June 2007
– 82 full time, 54 part time and 105 casual.

It is through the innovation and creativity of our people that MI Fellowship is able to improve and grow. At 30 June 2007 we had 241 employees and 409 volunteers as part of our diverse team across Victoria.

LEADERSHIP

MI Fellowship knows that excellent performance, innovation and evidence-based practice thrives in an environment where there is excellent leadership. Therefore it is important that we continue to support development opportunities for our current and future leaders.

This year 12 of our managers attended leadership development activities with organizations such as Leadership Management Australia (LMA). This type of investment ensures our leaders are supported in their professional development and are challenged to continue.

To ensure that leadership continues to be a focus we have started a leadership development program to be implemented in 2007/08. This year, a review of organization structure took place. The new structure will be implemented next year.

SEE 'ORGANIZATION CHART' OPPOSITE →

SUPPORTING PERFORMANCE, DEVELOPMENT AND REVIEW

The performance development and review (PDR) planning process has completed its second full cycle. The eligible staff participation rate in PDR supervision has increased from 56% to 71% in the past year.

Our PDR process is a unique way of combining strategic goals, professional supervision, organizational values expressed in behavioural terms, professional excellence and individual career development. The combination of the five elements allows for MI Fellowship to ensure the effective support of individuals and the achievement of service goals.

Further development of the PDR process will be undertaken in the next year.

ORIENTATION AND INDUCTION

From a full review of our orientation and induction philosophy we identified the need for improvements including more relevant materials, better coordinated processes and a stronger link between orientation and the PDR process plan for new employees. Opportunities for improvement in the orientation of volunteers were also identified.

Most of these improvements have already been implemented and will assist us better communicate the essence of MI Fellowship to new employees and volunteers.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY

A strategic approach to occupational health and safety assists in creating a safe environment for all our stakeholders. Improvement in our reporting mechanisms has meant that the prevention and resolution of incidents is more effectively supported.

A total of 349 incidents were reported in 2006/07. We believe that this, along with more qualitative information, demonstrates that our people understand and use the safety reporting systems. Twelve of these reported incidents were serious requiring reporting to the Department of Human Services.

SUSTAINABILITY

MI Fellowship is committed to fostering principles of sustainability in our work. Our initiatives, ranging from environmental to community and social include:

- Standard domestic recycling of paper, glass and plastic,
- Using computers donated to MI Fellowship by the Nurses Board of Victoria,
- The provision of internal and external training for staff in areas such as presentation skills and management,
- The provision of fact sheets and guest speakers and the staging of events such as Open Mind Fiesta to build community understanding of mental illness,
- Embracing diversity in staff and volunteer recruitment, including age, culture and gender.

FACTS AT A GLANCE

- 241 employees at 30 June 2007
– 82 full time, 54 part time and 105 casual

financials

2006.07 financials the year in review

MENTAL ILLNESS FELLOWSHIP VICTORIA ACN 093 357 165 30 JUNE 2007

MI Fellowship is committed to providing the highest standard of governance and financial reporting to our members, fund providers and stakeholders. A key element of our strategic plan was a review of all aspects of financial and risk management to ensure these high standards are achieved and maintained. Consistent with this objective, budgets are developed on an annual basis and take into account not only our short-term requirements but consider the need to invest in our future. Also, this year we have completed a major review of our financial control processes and have introduced an ongoing internal control program to provide assurance that the assets of MI Fellowship are protected.

The result for the year was a profit of $80,520 (before building depreciation) which compares to a planned deficit of $352,000. This favourable outcome was a consequence of the positive impact of the sector pricing review, the record donation raised from SEW Eurodrive charity events, a better than expected return on investments, as well as delays in staff recruitment. The surplus is however $400,821 less than last year as a direct consequence of funding future projects as well as strengthening the infrastructure of the organization to provide better service to those affected by mental illness, their families and friends. The sector review also increased funding of rehabilitation services which has allowed programs to contribute directly towards quality improvements.

Over this year revenue including capital funding has increased by 4.2% to $10.9 million, with the main growth occurring in the area of contract services. Our financial aim is to continue to increase independent funding to enable innovation to meet service gaps. This remains a challenge, with 78% of total revenue provided by various government grants.

Operating expenses also increased over the prior year to meet new service developments. Salaries remain our largest expense at 68% of total expenditure, consistent with last year, as program costs increased reflecting the growth in contract services.

Our key IT infrastructure project has reached its final pre implementation phase. Next year's implementation phase investment will be funded from future projects reserves. This IT development will revolutionize communications within rehabilitation and support services making it easier to deliver effective, accessible and prompt service.

Prudent financial management includes diversifying our investments within an acceptable risk environment to ensure they provide an ongoing source of funding to support our projects. This year, MI Fellowship has engaged independent professional advice to further develop this investment strategy with the aim of growing our income from investments in 2007/2008 and future years.

Membership funds this year total $9.682 million, up from $9.285 million last year.

We continue to remain in a very sound financial position and hold sufficient cash reserves to meet our financial liabilities.

This financial result has been a product of the work of many people in the organization. In particular I would like to thank Advan Hadzic and his team for the outstanding job they do in managing all aspects of our financial reporting. Also I would like to thank MI Fellowship member and volunteer Les Price for his generous leadership and support in developing and implementing the internal control program.

Jenny King, Treasurer

1. STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial report is a general purpose financial report that has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards including Australian Accounting Interpretations, other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board and the Corporations Act 2001. The financial report is for Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria as an individual entity, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria is a company limited by guarantee.

The following is a summary of the material accounting policies adopted by the entity in the preparation of the financial report. The accounting policies have been consistently applied, unless otherwise stated.

Basis of Preparation

Reporting Basis and Conventions

The financial report has been prepared on an accruals basis and is based on historical costs. It does not take into account changing money values or, except where stated, current valuations of non current assets. Cost is based on the fair values of the consideration given in exchange for assets.

Accounting Policies

(a) Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are brought to account at cost less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation and any impairment in value. The carrying amount of property, plant and equipment is reviewed annually to ensure it is not in excess of the recoverable amount from these assets. The recoverable amount is assessed on the basis of the expected net cash flows which will be received from the assets employment and subsequent disposal. The expected net cash flows have not been discounted to their present values in determining recoverable amounts.

The carrying values of plant and equipment are also reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value may not be recoverable. If any impairment exists, the assets are written down to their recoverable amount and the loss recognised in the income statement.

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets including buildings, but excluding freehold land, is depreciated over their useful lives commencing from the time the asset is held ready for use.

The gain or loss on disposal of all fixed assets, is determined as the difference between the carrying amount of the asset at the time of disposal and the proceeds of disposal, and is included in net profit in the year of disposal.

(b) Funds Held For Future Periods

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria receives funding from various agencies to run its programs. Where grants are required to be spent on specific programs in order to meet agreed outcomes as contracted with the funding agency, the organization initially records the monies received as a liability. This is due to a present obligation existing at that time to spend the monies in accordance with the funding agreement or risk having to refund those funds. Income is subsequently recognised in the periods that the funds are actually spent. As disclosed in the balance sheet, unspent funds totalling $3,537,695 are showing as a liability at 30 June 2007 ($2,860,393 at 30 June 2006). All other donations and untied grants are recorded as income when monies are received.

(d) Employee Entitlements

Provision is made for the liability for employee entitlements arising from services rendered by employees to balance date. Employee entitlements expected to be settled within one year together with entitlements arising from wages and salaries, annual leave and sick leave which will be settled after one year, have been measured at their nominal amount. Other employee entitlements payable later than one year have been measured at the present value of the estimated future cash outflows to be made for those entitlements. Contributions are made to employee superannuation funds and are charged as expenses when incurred.

(e) Taxation

Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria is classified as a Public Benevolent Institution for tax purposes and as such is exempt of Income Tax, Fringe Benefits Tax, and Payroll Tax. Consequently, no provision is made in the accounts for these taxes.

(f) Investments – Available for sale

All investments are initially recognised at cost, being the fair value of the consideration given and including acquisition charges associated with the investment. After initial recognition, investments are recorded at their market value with dividend income and distributions, except interest, being recognised in the Income Statement when received. Interest on term deposits is brought to account in the period in which it is earned.

Unrealised gains and losses arising from normal market movements are taken to Unrealised Investment Fluctuations Reserve. In the event of a permanent impairment any loss is charged to the Income Statement. When available-for-sale investments are sold, the total realised gains or losses, including those previously recognised through reserves, are included in the Income Statement.

(g) Cash

Cash includes cash on hand, deposits held at call with banks and investments in term deposits and money market instruments, net of overdrafts.

14. ASSET TRUST RESERVE

In 1998/99 Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria established an Asset Trust Reserve. The purpose of the reserve is to separately account for capital funding received in the past to finance the purchase of assets used by the organization's programs. These assets are required to be used in accordance with the objectives of each program and can potentially be redirected by changes in Government policy. As a result, the Fellowship has no discretionary control regarding their utilisation.

The balance of the reserve represents the written down value of assets used in the funded programs at the end of the financial year.

2006.07 financials independent audit report to the members of mental illness fellowship victoria

MENTAL ILLNESS FELLOWSHIP VICTORIA ACN 093 357 165 30 JUNE 2007

REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL REPORT

I have audited the accompanying financial report of Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria which comprises the balance sheet as at 30 June 2007 and the income statement, statement of recognised income and expenditure and cash flow statement for the year ended on that date, a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes and the directors' declaration.

Directors' Responsibility for the Financial Report

The directors of the company are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial report in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards (including the Australian Accounting Interpretations) and the Corporations Act 2001. This responsibility includes establishing and maintaining internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial report that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; selecting and applying appropriate accounting policies; and making accounting estimates that are reasonable in the circumstances.

Auditor's Responsibility

My responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial report based on my audit. I conducted my audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards. These Auditing Standards require that I comply with relevant ethical requirements relating to audit engagements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial report is free from material misstatement. An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial report. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial report in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial report. I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my audit opinion.

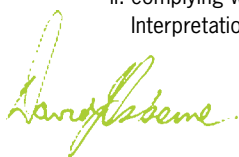

Independence

In conducting my audit, I have complied with the independence requirements of the Corporations Act 2001. I confirm that the independence declaration required by the Corporations Act 2001, provided to the directors of Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria on 29th August, 2007, would be in the same terms if provided to the directors as at the date of this auditor's report.

Auditor's Opinion

In our opinion:

- a. the financial report of Mental Illness Fellowship Victoria is in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001, including:
 - i. giving a true and fair view of the company's financial position as at 30 June 2007 and of their performance for the year ended on that date; and
 - ii. complying with Australian Accounting Standards (including the Australian Accounting Interpretations) and the Corporations Regulations 2001.
